Nazi International: The Nazis' Postwar Plan To Control The Worlds Of Science, Finance, Space, And Conflict

Synopsis

Physicist and Oxford educated historian Joseph P. Farrell continues his best-selling series of exposés on secret Nazi technology, Nazi survival, and post-war Nazi manipulation of various manufacturing technologies, economies and whole countries. Beginning with pre-War corporate partnerships in the USA, including the Bush family, he moves on to the surrender of Nazi Germany, and evacuation plans of the Germans. He then covers the vast, and still-little-known recreation of Nazi Germany in South America with help of Juan Peron, I.G. Farben and Martin Bormann. Farrell then covers Nazi Germany's Penetration of the Muslim World including Wilhelm Voss and Otto Skorzeny in Gamel Abdul Nasser's Egypt before moving onto the development and control of New Energy Technologies including the Bariloche Fusion Project, Dr. Philo Farnsworth's Plasmator, and the Work of Dr. Nikolai Kozyrev. Finally, Farrell discusses the Nazi desire to control space, and examines their connection with NASA, the esoteric meaning of NASA Mission Patches, plus final chapters on: Alchemy, Esotericism, The SS and the Unified Field Theory Craze; 1943-1945: Strange Events from the end of World War II and other "Postwar Shenanigans." This book is literally packed with information.

With this book Farrell takes a slight detour from his usual scientific detective work and moves into the realm of "conspiracy theory," or as he says, "conspiracy hypothesis." Using the same logical precision I have come to expect from his work, he analyzes the rumors and stories of Nazi escape at the end of World War 2. Even in a work this size, over 400 pages, he can still only scratch the surface of the vast, powerful underground movement that the Nazi party created to facilitate their escape from their near-miss at world domination. As Jim Marrs has pointed out in his new book, and Farrell echoes here, the Nazi Party never surrendered - Germany, Japan and Italy did, but the Nazis did not. To drive the point home clearly, Farrell reproduces the "instruments of surrender" signed at the end of the war. Was it an incredible oversight to let the Nazis slip through the cracks like that, or was it just another part of their extraordinary plan? The book is 12 chapters in 4 sections, and begins with a look at the surrender, the science fiction novels of Wilhelm Landig, Nazi UFO myths and Reinhold Schmidt, and part of the information Carol Rosin communicates from the late Werner Von Braun (a greater portion of which is available from Steven Greer's Disclosure Project, and well worth your attention). I was especially happy to see more information on Landig, as I was intrigued by his mention of Landig's novels in an earlier book. He goes on to describe the financial processes by which Allied banking and other Big Money interests helped create both the Nazi party and the Bolshevik revolution. Again, he shows that the financial dealings and corporate underground created are so vast and powerful that even a book this size can only hit the high points. The legal wrangling of I.G.

This book is a potpourri of information on preparations made by Nazi Germany since 1944 for the time after losing the war, the probable escape of leading Nazis to Argentina, probably including Martin Bormann, Gestapo chief Heinrich M ller and Hans Kammler, possibly even Adolf Hitler and Eva Braun, and their actions in South America and elsewhere after the end of the war, but also some other subjects. My perspective is that of a German who is not a historian, but spent a lot of time learning about the NS time from as well "politically correct" as "politically incorrect" and "conspiracy theory" sources, with some interest in possible discoveries in non-standard physics during WWII. The author's core thesis that fills most of the book is that a group of Nazis are still trying to achieve world rulership, but these days via stock certificates and infiltration of institutions by loyal supporters. This hypothesis sounds so absurd to me from every point of view that I hardly know where to start disproving it. If such a group exists, it seems to be quite meaningless. The simplest proof is the ban and suppression of national-socialist symbols, activity and political positions in Germany, Austria and many other western countries, often by law. The thesis of the Nazis having ever tried to achieve world rulership is absurd anyway, it can be proven to originate from American anti-German WWII propaganda and finds absolutely no serious proof ever in statements made by leading Nazis or in plans found, just the opposite. Farrell's mistake might be that he does not separate between the concepts of fascism (e. g. the unity of state and cooperations, as Mussolini defined it) or totalitarianism and National Socialism.
